Robert Borski,

It was pointed out elsewhere/somewhen that the last bit of "Forlesen," the Yes No part, is actually the answer (from the nine archetypes) to the final question.

Doctor --No
Priest --Yes
Philosopher --No
Theologian --Yes
Actor --Yes
Warlock --No
National Hero --Yes
Aged Loremaster--Yes
Novelist --Maybe

Forlesen gets all nine answers because he didn't specify which one he wanted.

This does not alter your binary observation, which is an interesting one, but how does binary (0,1) deal with "maybe" (2?)?
