

Gene Wolfe's Pants!

The Urth list — 1 messages, 1 voices, 06 Aug 2000

<https://urth.darkrealm.vip/thread/urth/2332>

Exported from an unofficial mirror of a public mailing list. Copyright in each message remains with the person who wrote it. Email addresses are obscured as `user at host`, the form the original archive published. This file was rebuilt from parsed fields rather than retained headers, so it is faithful in content but not byte-exact.

stilskin — 06 Aug 2000, 05:33

Or what holds them up, anyway. It's been suggested to me that the rest of the list may enjoy the following:

Along the lines of writing as therapy, and my last post mentioning Gene Wolfe's preference to "stay down in the basement with the demons," on this same panel at Readercon, Wolfe startled his fellow panelists and those of us in the audience by suddenly announcing: "Now I will take off my pants!" But rather than channeling the spirit of Gardner Dozois, he was actually merely removing his belt buckle (Terminus Est!) to pass around for general perusal. Engraved into the metal was language certifying the wearer to perform exorcisms. As to the significance of such language appearing on a belt buckle, I'll leave that to the Freudians in the audience!

Falcon

www.sff.net/people/stilskin