For those who are interested in the historical background to the Aegypt books, there is a five-page article in the April 19, 2001 issue of the LONDON REVIEW OF BOOKS on Edward Kelley, John Dee's partner, dealing both with his years with Dee and his subsequent career. I just skimmed the article (and I don't remember that much about Kelley from the books, to be honest) so I can't say how relevant it is to the books.

The LRB has a website (www.lrb.co.uk), but the article isn't online, at least not yet.
