

Publishers Lost

The Urth list — 1 messages, 1 voices, 22 Jan 1998

<https://urth.darkrealm.vip/thread/urth/298>

Exported from an unofficial mirror of a public mailing list. Copyright in each message remains with the person who wrote it. Email addresses are obscured as `user at host`, the form the original archive published. This file was rebuilt from parsed fields rather than retained headers, so it is faithful in content but not byte-exact.

m.driussi — 22 Jan 1998, 15:56

vizcacha,

Re: missing link between Amazon.Com and Serconia, try Chris Drumm Books--he is listing the more recent Clute book, LOOK AT THE EVIDENCE, in both hard and soft cover. Bet he knows where Serconia is!

Chris Drumm Books
P.O. Box 445
Polk City IA 50226-0445
phone/fax: 515-984-6749
e-mail: cdrummbks at aol.com

Re: Clute's Catherine the Weal tested by the "Mant-O-Meter" . . . well, you can understand my bias--how I might not be the most reliable mantometer technician. But I believe there is a certain amount of mantic antic, with textual evidence (often alluded to in paraphrase; mainly lacking citations, so to trace it all requires a bit of work). Feeley's essay presents some text citations at the end.

Re: your internal archaeology and the lost essay. No, I don't recognize the essay, nor do I have a copy. Yes, I think that TBOTNS is about something like that at one level, but in my version: the freebooter did achieve the New Sun without any super help or hinderence the "first" time; this brought him to the attention of the Forces of Entropy, who tripped back in time to try and stop him; but his success activated the helping circuits (Claw, most obviously) that already existed (at least in potential).

(Your recalled essay: "friends from the far future" would be the Green Man, by himself or acting as an agent, who appeared in CLAW; balanced by "friendly enemy from the far future" Master Ash, who appears in CITADEL, and thus invisible to the pre-CITADEL essayist.)

=mantis=