Exported from an unofficial mirror of a public mailing list. Copyright in each message remains with the person who wrote it. Email addresses are obscured as `user at host`, the form the original archive published. This file was rebuilt from parsed fields rather than retained headers, so it is faithful in content but not byte-exact.

I would post this at <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/johncrowleyreaders> but I can't even access it, so my apologies if this is irrelevant.

There's a review of "the Translator" and short interview of Crowley by Elizabeth Hand in this week's Village Voice <http://www.villagevoice.com/issues/0215/hand.php>

A transcript of a Q&A session with Crowley from a couple of weeks ago - not least, discussing plans for further reissues by his current publisher <http://www.readerville.com/WebX?14> at 106.GFMDagFVerl^1@.f1e054c/0

Crowley did a radio commentary last week

There's a short article by Crowley in this weeks Washington Post (at the bottom of the page) <http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/articles/A62470-2002Apr4.html>

And if anyone's much fussed I've started rounding up stuff on Crowley at the site below: bibliographies, biography, links, etc. It's rather rudimentary at the moment but there should be more soon on his short stories, including a couple of very early ones which seem to have gone unnoticed, and also a matrix of online references for AEgypt - literary, artists, theology, historical, geography, etc. <http://www.michaelscycles.freemove.co.uk/crowl1.htm>
