

More Wizard Knight questions - SPOILERS

The Urth list — 2 messages, 2 voices, 03 Jan 2005

<https://urth.darkrealm.vip/thread/urth/4283>

Exported from an unofficial mirror of a public mailing list. Copyright in each message remains with the person who wrote it. Email addresses are obscured as `user at host`, the form the original archive published. This file was rebuilt from parsed fields rather than retained headers, so it is faithful in content but not byte-exact.

Dave Rolsky — 03 Jan 2005, 09:50

* Who is the "great lord in need of a knight" who Michael tells Able about at the end?

* How will Ben see the letter? Able says "Michael has found a way" but of course doesn't give any details. Is it just supposed to be through an exercise of Michael's divine powers, or is it something more interesting?

I'm sure there I could come up with lots of others, but those were the ones immediately on my mind when I finished the second book.

-dave

```
/*=====
VegGuide.Org
Your guide to all that's veg.
=====*/
```

stilskin — 03 Jan 2005, 09:55 · in reply to Dave Rolsky

I wish I knew the answer to your first question! I'm wondering whether it's the Most High God, who is sending Able on a mission in our world -- America.

As for how Ben will see the letter: presumably he may see it the same way other Americans have seen it: by reading the novel published by Tor.

Paul

--- Dave Rolsky <autarch at urth.org> wrote:

* Who is the "great lord in need of a knight" who Michael tells Able about at the end?

* How will Ben see the letter? Able says "Michael has found a way" but of course doesn't give any details. Is it just supposed to be through an exercise of Michael's divine powers, or is it something more interesting?

I'm sure there I could come up with lots of others, but those were the ones immediately on my mind when I finished the second book.

-dave

```
/*=====
VegGuide.Org
Your guide to all that's veg.
=====*/
```
