For those with high-speed connections here is a video of a lump of sodium bouncing around in a lake:

Here s the link to the site the movie comes from, explaining how the sodium lept three or four times about forty feet in the air after each contact with H2O (mid-page, but the whole range of experiments is funny/terrifying too):

Enjoy!

Hey Ori,

It's been years. Welcome back!

Thanks Roy, but I never left -- I just didn't have much to add to the discussion!
