I hate to do this, but my ISP installed a new spam filter on its mail server a couple of weeks ago and I haven't seen a message from this group since then. I'm just testing to see if the group has been "spam-filtered" out!

Again, sorry.

As far as I can tell, it has just been quiet.

But if you really want to know, you shoulda just checked the archives.

Actually, I did. The archives are only updated through the end of February. My suspected problems started around the first of March. The archives didn't tell me much.

Oh. Never mind then.

~Maru

/has never actually checked the archives
