Note the time scale - somewhat less than a million years for the example. It shouldn't be too hard (!) to change the black hole mix to get whatever length of time was required.

Cool find.

I love this:

"It is easier to grow truly huge black holes quickly if you start with a larger seed."

I find I get the best, strongest black holes when I use large seeds, fertile loam, and miraclegrow. I used to have a nice little hydroponic black hole garden, but I got a bit paranoid having all that going on in my basement. I did have my Medicinal Black Hole card, but it still seemed a bit dangerous.
