I'm on Facebook as Ryan Buller. There are a couple of Gene Wolfe groups there too.

Also, I'm on Twitter as mraf and have met a few other Wolfe fans through that social network.

Every Wednesday I post a random Gene Wolfe link under the hash tags #genewolfe and #wolfewednesday. I'm trying to get a trend going for the fans out there and get new people interested in Wolfe's work.

I was going to friend you on Facebook, but there seem to be several people with your name... I could cross-reference with Wolfe groups, I suppose...

Odd how many people share names, isn't it?
