

urth crackdown!

The Urth list — 10 messages, 6 voices, 24 May 2010

<https://urth.darkrealm.vip/thread/urth/5613>

Exported from an unofficial mirror of a public mailing list. Copyright in each message remains with the person who wrote it. Email addresses are obscured as `user at host`, the form the original archive published. This file was rebuilt from parsed fields rather than retained headers, so it is faithful in content but not byte-exact.

---

Ranjit Bhatnagar — 24 May 2010, 16:50

Here comes the Argument From Authority! As list owner, I hereby decree:

Mark Twain's forthcoming memoirs are a reasonable topic of discussion here, but don't go overboard.

It's a good idea to edit the subject line of a discussion to reflect the topic being discussed, particularly if the discussion is drifting away from the main point of the list, which is Gene Wolfe's work. It's not mandatory, though, and it's not in itself a good topic of discussion on this list.

Acting like a jerk is always off-topic, even if the other guy started it.

This list has been around for almost 15 years with almost no moderation, and this has almost always worked out just fine. Sometimes bickering has broken out, and some valuable members have left because of the noise. I'd prefer to keep that to a minimum.

If you have any complaints or comments about this decree, email me directly. Note that I wasn't calling YOU a jerk-- I was talking about that other guy.

- Ranjit

---

Dan'l Danehy-Oakes — 24 May 2010, 16:52 · in reply to Ranjit Bhatnagar

Rome has spoken, and there is an end of the matter.

On Mon, May 24, 2010 at 9:50 AM, Ranjit Bhatnagar <ranjit at moonmilk.com> wrote:
Here comes the Argument From Authority!? As list owner, I hereby decree:

Mark Twain's forthcoming memoirs are a reasonable topic of discussion here, but don't go overboard.

It's a good idea to edit the subject line of a discussion to reflect the topic being discussed, particularly if the discussion is drifting away from the main point of the list, which is Gene Wolfe's work. It's not mandatory, though, and it's not in itself a good topic of discussion on this list.

Acting like a jerk is always off-topic, even if the other guy started it.

This list has been around for almost 15 years with almost no moderation, and this has almost always worked out just fine. Sometimes bickering has broken out, and some valuable members have left because of the noise. I'd prefer to keep that to a minimum.

If you have any complaints or comments about this decree, email me directly. Note that I wasn't calling YOU a jerk-- I was talking about that other guy.

- Ranjit

---

brunians at brunians.org — 24 May 2010, 16:53 · in reply to Ranjit Bhatnagar

It's OK, Ranjit; I understand you aren't calling me a jerk.

It's very sweet of you to try not to hurt peoples feelings like this.

You're a nice person.

Here comes the Argument From Authority! As list owner, I hereby decree:

Mark Twain's forthcoming memoirs are a reasonable topic of discussion here,
but don't go overboard.

It's a good idea to edit the subject line of a discussion to reflect the topic being discussed, particularly if the discussion is drifting away from the main point of the list, which is Gene Wolfe's work. It's not mandatory, though, and it's not in itself a good topic of discussion on this list.

Acting like a jerk is always off-topic, even if the other guy started it.

This list has been around for almost 15 years with almost no moderation, and this has almost always worked out just fine. Sometimes bickering has broken out, and some valuable members have left because of the noise. I'd prefer to keep that to a minimum.

If you have any complaints or comments about this decree, email me directly. Note that I wasn't calling YOU a jerk-- I was talking about that other guy.
- Ranjit

---

brunians at brunians.org — 24 May 2010, 16:54 · in reply to brunians at brunians.org

Sorry, that was meant to go directly to Ranjit.

Darned mailer!

It's OK, Ranjit; I understand you aren't calling me a jerk.

It's very sweet of you to try not to hurt peoples feelings like this.

You're a nice person.

.

Here comes the Argument From Authority! As list owner, I hereby decree:

Mark Twain's forthcoming memoirs are a reasonable topic of discussion here,
but don't go overboard.

It's a good idea to edit the subject line of a discussion to reflect the topic being discussed, particularly if the discussion is drifting away from the main point of the list, which is Gene Wolfe's work. It's not mandatory, though, and it's not in itself a good topic of discussion on this list.

Acting like a jerk is always off-topic, even if the other guy started it.

This list has been around for almost 15 years with almost no moderation, and this has almost always worked out just fine. Sometimes bickering has broken out, and some valuable members have left because of the noise. I'd prefer to keep that to a minimum.

If you have any complaints or comments about this decree, email me directly. Note that I wasn't calling YOU a jerk-- I was talking about that other guy.
- Ranjit

---

James Wynn — 24 May 2010, 17:26 · in reply to Dan'l Danehy-Oakes

Pax Romana

On 5/24/2010 11:52 AM, Dan'l Danehy-Oakes wrote:
Rome has spoken, and there is an end of the matter.

On Mon, May 24, 2010 at 9:50 AM, Ranjit Bhatnagar<ranjit at moonmilk.com> wrote:

Here comes the Argument From Authority! As list owner, I hereby decree:

Mark Twain's forthcoming memoirs are a reasonable topic of discussion here, but don't go overboard.

It's a good idea to edit the subject line of a discussion to reflect the topic being discussed, particularly if the discussion is drifting away from the main point of the list, which is Gene Wolfe's work. It's not mandatory, though, and it's not in itself a good topic of discussion on this list.

Acting like a jerk is always off-topic, even if the other guy started it.

This list has been around for almost 15 years with almost no moderation, and this has almost always worked out just fine. Sometimes bickering has broken out, and some valuable members have left because of the noise. I'd prefer to keep that to a minimum.

If you have any complaints or comments about this decree, email me directly. Note that I wasn't calling YOU a jerk-- I was talking about that other guy.

- Ranjit

---

Fred Kiesche — 24 May 2010, 17:40 · in reply to James Wynn

Mark Twain has returned from the afterlife to do his memoirs? Cool!

On Mon, May 24, 2010 at 1:26 PM, James Wynn <crushtv at gmail.com> wrote:
Pax Romana

On 5/24/2010 11:52 AM, Dan'I Danehy-Oakes wrote:

Rome has spoken, and there is an end of the matter.

On Mon, May 24, 2010 at 9:50 AM, Ranjit Bhatnagar<ranjit at moonmilk.com> wrote:

Here comes the Argument From Authority! As list owner, I hereby decree:

Mark Twain's forthcoming memoirs are a reasonable topic of discussion here,
but don't go overboard.

It's a good idea to edit the subject line of a discussion to reflect the topic being discussed, particularly if the discussion is drifting away from the main point of the list, which is Gene Wolfe's work. It's not mandatory, though, and it's not in itself a good topic of discussion on this list.

Acting like a jerk is always off-topic, even if the other guy started it.

This list has been around for almost 15 years with almost no moderation, and this has almost always worked out just fine. Sometimes bickering has broken out, and some valuable members have left because of the noise. I'd prefer to keep that to a minimum.

If you have any complaints or comments about this decree, email me directly. Note that I wasn't calling YOU a jerk-- I was talking about that other guy.

- Ranjit

---

Allan Anderson — 24 May 2010, 17:50 · in reply to Fred Kiesche

He pretty much has. The first three volumes of bitter nearly-dead Twain invective are due out in November, after honoring his wish that they not be published until 100 years after his death. To warm up, consider reading his Letters from Hawaii: <http://tinyurl.com/27vwcmu>

On Mon, May 24, 2010 at 10:40 AM, Fred Kiesche
<godelescherbach at gmail.com> wrote:

Mark Twain has returned from the afterlife to do his memoirs? Cool!

On Mon, May 24, 2010 at 1:26 PM, James Wynn <crushtv at gmail.com> wrote:

Pax Romana

On 5/24/2010 11:52 AM, Dan'l Danehy-Oakes wrote:

Rome has spoken, and there is an end of the matter.

On Mon, May 24, 2010 at 9:50 AM, Ranjit Bhatnagar<ranjit at moonmilk.com> wrote:

Here comes the Argument From Authority! ?As list owner, I hereby decree:

Mark Twain's forthcoming memoirs are a reasonable topic of discussion here, but don't go overboard.

It's a good idea to edit the subject line of a discussion to reflect the topic being discussed, particularly if the discussion is drifting away from the main point of the list, which is Gene Wolfe's work. ?It's not mandatory, though, and it's not in itself a good topic of discussion on this list.

Acting like a jerk is always off-topic, even if the other guy started it.

This list has been around for almost 15 years with almost no moderation, and this has almost always worked out just fine. ?Sometimes bickering has broken out, and some valuable members have left because of the noise. ?I'd prefer to keep that to a minimum.

If you have any complaints or comments about this decree, email me directly. ?Note that I wasn't calling YOU a jerk-- I was talking about that other guy.

- Ranjit

---

Dan'l Danehy-Oakes — 24 May 2010, 17:50 · in reply to Fred Kiesche

Actually, Twain left behind a huge and very frank autobiography and instructions that it not be published for at least a century after his death. He died in 1910, and the first volume of a projected three will be published in November.

On Mon, May 24, 2010 at 10:40 AM, Fred Kiesche
<godelescherbach at gmail.com> wrote:

Mark Twain has returned from the afterlife to do his memoirs? Cool!

On Mon, May 24, 2010 at 1:26 PM, James Wynn <crushtv at gmail.com> wrote:

Pax Romana

On 5/24/2010 11:52 AM, Dan'l Danehy-Oakes wrote:

Rome has spoken, and there is an end of the matter.

On Mon, May 24, 2010 at 9:50 AM, Ranjit Bhatnagar<ranjit at moonmilk.com> wrote:

Here comes the Argument From Authority! ?As list owner, I hereby decree:

Mark Twain's forthcoming memoirs are a reasonable topic of discussion here,
but don't go overboard.

It's a good idea to edit the subject line of a discussion to reflect the topic being discussed, particularly if the discussion is drifting away from the main point of the list, which is Gene Wolfe's work. ?It's not mandatory, though, and it's not in itself a good topic of discussion on this list.

Acting like a jerk is always off-topic, even if the other guy started it.

This list has been around for almost 15 years with almost no moderation, and this has almost always worked out just fine. ?Sometimes bickering has broken out, and some valuable members have left because of the noise. ?I'd prefer to keep that to a minimum.

If you have any complaints or comments about this decree, email me directly. ?Note that I wasn't calling YOU a jerk-- I was talking about that other guy.
- Ranjit

---

brunians at brunians.org — 24 May 2010, 17:58 · in reply to Dan'l Danehy-Oakes
Wow.

Actually, Twain left behind a huge and very frank autobiography and instructions that it not be published for at least a century after his death. He died in 1910, and the first volume of a projected three will be published in November.

On Mon, May 24, 2010 at 10:40 AM, Fred Kiesche

<godelescherbach at gmail.com> wrote:

Mark Twain has returned from the afterlife to do his memoirs? Cool!

On Mon, May 24, 2010 at 1:26 PM, James Wynn <crushtv at gmail.com> wrote:

Pax Romana

On 5/24/2010 11:52 AM, Dan'I Danehy-Oakes wrote:

Rome has spoken, and there is an end of the matter.

On Mon, May 24, 2010 at 9:50 AM, Ranjit Bhatnagar<ranjit at moonmilk.com>
?wrote:

Here comes the Argument From Authority! ?As list owner, I hereby decree:

Mark Twain's forthcoming memoirs are a reasonable topic of discussion
here,
but don't go overboard.

It's a good idea to edit the subject line of a discussion to reflect the topic being discussed, particularly if the discussion is drifting away
from the main point of the list, which is Gene Wolfe's work. ?It's not mandatory, though, and it's not in itself a good topic of discussion on this list.

Acting like a jerk is always off-topic, even if the other guy started it.

This list has been around for almost 15 years with almost no moderation,
and this has almost always worked out just fine. ?Sometimes bickering has broken out, and some valuable members have left because of the noise. ?I'd prefer
to keep that to a minimum.

If you have any complaints or comments about this decree, email me directly. ?Note that I wasn't calling YOU a jerk-- I was talking about that other guy.
- Ranjit

Now I can hope for the discovery of "The Jet Black Shore", the 22nd Aubrey-Maturin novel by Patrick O'Brian...

On Mon, May 24, 2010 at 1:58 PM, <brunians at brunians.org> wrote:
Wow.

.
Actually, Twain left behind a huge and very frank autobiography and instructions that it not be published for at least a century after his death. He died in 1910, and the first volume of a projected three will be published in November.

On Mon, May 24, 2010 at 10:40 AM, Fred Kiesche
<godelescherbach at gmail.com> wrote:

Mark Twain has returned from the afterlife to do his memoirs? Cool!

On Mon, May 24, 2010 at 1:26 PM, James Wynn <crushtv at gmail.com> wrote:
Pax Romana

On 5/24/2010 11:52 AM, Dan'I Danehy-Oakes wrote:
Rome has spoken, and there is an end of the matter.

On Mon, May 24, 2010 at 9:50 AM, Ranjit Bhatnagar<ranjit at moonmilk.com>
wrote:

Here comes the Argument From Authority! As list owner, I hereby decree:

Mark Twain's forthcoming memoirs are a reasonable topic of discussion
here,
but don't go overboard.

It's a good idea to edit the subject line of a discussion to reflect
the
topic being discussed, particularly if the discussion is drifting
away
from the main point of the list, which is Gene Wolfe's work. It's not mandatory,
though, and it's not in itself a good topic of discussion on this list.

Acting like a jerk is always off-topic, even if the other guy started
it.

This list has been around for almost 15 years with almost no moderation,
and this has almost always worked out just fine. Sometimes bickering has broken out, and some valuable members have left because of the noise. I'd prefer
to keep that to a minimum.

If you have any complaints or comments about this decree, email me directly. Note that I wasn't calling YOU a jerk-- I was talking about

that other guy.
- Ranjit

---