Jeff Wilson: I was looking for completely different animal pictures when I glimpsed this and instantly thought of Lee, Triskele, and the apes.

Thanks Jeff! Heh, yep the monkey and dog families figure largely into my interpretation of a primate named Wolfe.

I have to say, it's the apparent literal handwaving of the simian and the patient but not especially comprehending attention of his canine audience that sells it for me.

It's also interesting in that the ape is chained while the dog is free.
