

memorial gift in honor of Rosemary Wolfe

The Urth list — 5 messages, 5 voices, 17 Dec 2013

<https://urth.darkrealm.vip/thread/urth/6484>

Exported from an unofficial mirror of a public mailing list. Copyright in each message remains with the person who wrote it. Email addresses are obscured as `user at host`, the form the original archive published. This file was rebuilt from parsed fields rather than retained headers, so it is faithful in content but not byte-exact.

Stephen Case — 17 Dec 2013, 15:10

Folks on the list have mentioned flowers or letters sent on to Gene in honor of Rosemary. I'm wondering if it wouldn't be appropriate to pool our resources here and make a significant gift or donation in her honor. Does anyone know of any particular organization or charity that was meaningful to Gene or Rosemary? We had a colleague at the university here pass suddenly recently. He was heavily involved in missions work, so in lieu of cards or flowers the department made a gift to World Vision in his honor. I'm not sure how we could coordinate this, but certainly the wonders of the internet and the folks here who know Gene personally could allow us to contribute something meaningful in her honor.

Ideas?

-S

Stephen Case
PhD Candidate, Program for the History and Philosophy of Science
University of Notre Dame
www.stephenrcase.com
815.295.4720

Antonin Scriabin — 17 Dec 2013, 15:15 · in reply to Stephen Case

If someone on the list everyone feels comfortable with starts a campaign on a crowdfunding site (or just a dedicated PayPal account) it would be pretty easy to donate to it. Then the final amount can be donated to the charity.

On Tue, Dec 17, 2013 at 10:10 AM, Stephen Case <scase1@nd.edu> wrote:
Folks on the list have mentioned flowers or letters sent on to Gene in honor of Rosemary. I'm wondering if it wouldn't be appropriate to pool our resources here and make a significant gift or donation in her honor. Does anyone know of any particular organization or charity that was meaningful to Gene or Rosemary? We had a colleague at the university here pass suddenly recently. He was heavily involved in missions work, so in lieu of cards or flowers the department made a gift to World Vision in his honor. I'm not sure how we could coordinate this, but certainly the wonders of the internet and the folks here who know Gene personally could allow us to contribute something meaningful in her honor.

Ideas?

-S

--

Stephen Case
PhD Candidate, Program for the History and Philosophy of Science
University of Notre Dame
www.stephenrcase.com
815.295.4720

Ste Jervis — 17 Dec 2013, 15:39 · in reply to Antonin Scriabin

<http://www.justgiving.com/en/remembering>

Something like this might be of use, I think you can set up a page and pick your chosen charity. This might only be useful for the UK but I'm sure there's an equivalent for the US.

On 17 December 2013 15:15, Antonin Scriabin <kierkegaurdian at gmail.com> wrote:
If someone on the list everyone feels comfortable with starts a campaign on a crowdfunding site (or just a dedicated PayPal account) it would be pretty easy to donate to it. Then the final amount can be donated to the charity.

On Tue, Dec 17, 2013 at 10:10 AM, Stephen Case <scase1 at nd.edu> wrote:

Folks on the list have mentioned flowers or letters sent on to Gene in honor of Rosemary. I'm wondering if it wouldn't be appropriate to pool our resources here and make a significant gift or donation in her honor. Does anyone know of any particular organization or charity that was meaningful to Gene or Rosemary? We had a colleague at the university here pass suddenly recently. He was heavily involved in missions work, so in lieu of cards or flowers the department made a gift to World Vision in his honor. I'm not sure how we could coordinate this, but certainly the wonders of the internet and the folks here who know Gene personally could allow us to contribute something meaningful in her honor.

Ideas?

-S

--

Stephen Case
PhD Candidate, Program for the History and Philosophy of Science
University of Notre Dame
www.stephenrcase.com
815.295.4720

antonio at gmail.com — 18 Dec 2013, 13:21 · in reply to Stephen Case

I find this a beautiful idea, though I don't know that it has to be coordinated. If someone in personal terms with the family can find an adequate beneficiary, then everyone so inclined may make a contribution they see fit.

No dia 17/12/2013, às 15:10, Stephen Case <scase1 at nd.edu> escreveu:

Folks on the list have mentioned flowers or letters sent on to Gene in honor of Rosemary. I'm wondering if it wouldn't be appropriate to pool our resources here and make a significant gift or donation in her honor. Does anyone know of any particular organization or charity that was meaningful to Gene or Rosemary? We had a colleague at the university here pass suddenly recently. He was heavily involved in missions work, so in lieu of cards or flowers the department made a gift to World Vision in his honor. I'm not sure how we could coordinate this, but certainly the wonders of the internet and the folks here who know Gene personally could allow us to contribute something meaningful in her honor.

Ideas?

-S

--

Stephen Case
PhD Candidate, Program for the History and Philosophy of Science
University of Notre Dame
www.stephenrcase.com
815.295.4720

Marc Aramini — 18 Dec 2013, 21:31 · in reply to Ste Jervis

http://www.wrightandsalmon.com/fh/obituaries/obituary.cfm?o_id=2354891&fh_id=10625#.UrCU9GDuKsA.facebook

There is the link to her obituary - at the bottom it says donations may be made to the Alzheimer's association.

Hope the link works.