Keith have you joined the Facebook group? Marc Aramini is on there as well so it's very nice chats all day every day.

Hello all! This is my first post on this mailing list, and thus I apologize in advance if I've made an error, or offered a silly question. I've been following and reading through for a while.

Is there anything to be read into Severian sharing a name with Severian of Gabala? I'm currently half through 'In Green's Jungles' in terms of the Solar Cycle series and I've read through a number of his other books.

One rather unhelpful friend suggested that Gene Wolfe was writing in a pre-Google era and thus it might be coincidence? I think I can be fairly certain that there is very little happenstance that Gene Wolfe offers in his worlds.

Hi Keith,

Probably you will make a lot of errors as everybody does who tries to make sense of Wolfes books. They have an impenetrable character almost esoteric so don't worry about it.

There is not much to connect between the two Severians except the name.
