Exported from an unofficial mirror of a public mailing list. Copyright in each message remains with the person who wrote it. Email addresses are obscured as `user at host`, the form the original archive published. This file was rebuilt from parsed fields rather than retained headers, so it is faithful in content but not byte-exact.

From Emrys:

Do we have a quorum (who've read RTTW) yet?

I sure would like to begin the discussions.

I say we do, and we should. People who haven't read it should simply avoid the whorl list for the moment. That's the way we did it before, and it worked fine. I also really object to long "spoiler space"--among other annoyances, it hogs archive room.

I know that plant that folds its leaves--I had thought one of its nicknames was "shy" plant, but that's not in Wyman--I'll keep a look out in the spring catalogs and post if I find it.
