Exported from an unofficial mirror of a public mailing list. Copyright in each message remains with the person who wrote it. Email addresses are obscured as `user at host`, the form the original archive published. This file was rebuilt from parsed fields rather than retained headers, so it is faithful in content but not byte-exact.

Um, does it have to be in the form of a question?

I feel like I'm dealing with a tricky gen-ie, and if I say "Can you give me a brief biography of Maytera Mint" the response will be "Yes. Next question." And I will have wasted my wish.

By the way, you may have noticed that the Whorl and Urth archives are missing. That's because my web site has gone to mainframe -- or, I should say, has been deleted from mainframe. Luckily, I have shards of the site hidden away here and there; I hope to revive it within a week or so.
